B.O.B. Awards, IIDA Best of the Best-2009

Insight wins Merit Award for Residential Category with the Bunn-Felts Residence

A. Richard Bunn, Allison Jones, and Stephanie Martinez accepted the award at IIDA Annual B.O.B. Awards banquet in February. The Bunn- Felts Residence won a Merit Award in the Residential Category for design of an addition, new kitchen, master bedroom, master bathroom and exterior covered porch and garden. WicksteadWorks executed the renovation construction with a superior team of Project Manager and Sub-Contractors.

After 20 years of living with a 1920's era kitchen, the owners decided it was time to enjoy their passion for food and entertainment in an updated kitchen merged seamlessly with indoor/outdoor spaces. Home valuation drove the couple to broaden the kitchen ideas into adding a master bedroom suite to the project.

Seating Area at Kitchen

The kitchen was combined with a TV viewing area and den to create a gathering room so the owners and guests could enjoy and participate in the preparation of meals. The selection of professional service appliances and well organized cabinetry along with planning for the maximization of a small footprint round out this solution. A covered cooking porch was added so that the kitchen flows onto the porch and into the backyard garden where there is a dining terrace and an organic kitchen garden.

Adjacent and supplemental to the kitchen and gathering room is a Master Suite that also opens into the garden.

New Kitchen

Mr. Bunn designed the architectural renovation and conceived the phasing of construction to best suit the sequencing of construction. Each major space of the home was designed as an integration of the whole house, allowing rooms to flow from one space into the next space.

He envisioned the porch and garden as one integral space both of which would flow back and forth from and into the kitchen. Garden produce could be gathered from the garden and brought directly into the kitchen for preparation. Likewise, freshly prepared foods could be easily transferred to the covered porch and into the outdoor dining area.
